Having practiced for the last twenty years in New Orleans, I feel confident of giving satisfaction to every one who may honor me with a call. I would call the particular attention of the public to my mode of filling teeth, which is done in such a manner as to get twice the amount of gold into a cavity, as done in the usual way. I can, therefore, "guarantee "every tooth plugged in such manner to be as good as if never decayed. Artificial teeth inserted—from one to an entire set—

Dr. Wilson has been treating aching teeth successfully for the last five yerrs by destroying the nerve without pain, filling the fangs and crown with gold, rest-ring the tooth to its natural shape, and making it as useful as before decay. Do not have your teeth extracted until you are certain they cannot be saved.—More than fifty per cent. of the teeth usually extracted can be made useful through life. We are dally treating and filling teeth of this class that comes in to be extracted. In no case do we disfigure a tooth by filing to fill it, using other and better means than the indiscriminate use of the file. Any tooth can be filled with gold that is worth filling at all. We use, when requested, a local anesthesia to prevent pain in extracting teeth. All operations warranted as represented, and terms as liberal as any good Dentist can afford.

DAILY COURIER. NOVEMBER 1, 1858. MONDAY,

Reading Matter on every page.

LOUISVILLE THEATER-CHANGE IN THE MANAGE-MENT .- We are gratified to announce that our old friend, and the favorite of the Louisville public, Mr. Geo. Mellus, re-appears as manager of the Louisville theater-a position he filled years ago with credit to himself, satisfaction to the patrons of the drama, and profit to the lessee. In his career here, Mr. Mellus, by his universal cleverness as a man, and tact and judiciousness as a manager, secured the friendship and commendation of all who knew him. We doubt that any one in a simlar position ever won such true and lasting friends, and as many of them. The patrons of the drama will warmly welcome back Mellus to a place he will fill so well.

We are glad to know in the changing that may ccur in the inauguration of a new management, our old friend, "genial" Jack Lorton, continues as stage manager. In that capacity, Jack Lorton peer to the best in the land, while as an actor his general excellence is proverbial among those who appreciate good acting.

Mr. James Anderson, the eminent tragedian ommences an engagement to-night, and appears n his admired character of "Hamlet." Miss Ida Vernon personates Ophelia, and Lorton "Polonus." The cast otherwise is quite good.

THE JEFFERSONVILLE FERRY .- This ferry is a nonopoly, and the proprietors should try to meet the wants of the public, or at least advertise their running arrangements, so that travelers need not be delayed or disappointed. On Saturday evening one of the ferry boats, the Black Locust, ceased running, and tied up at the Jeffersonville shore before 5 o'clock, leaving a dozen or nore foot passengers, a horseman, a buggy, and a couple of wagons on the shore, where they were ompelled to await the arrival of the other ferry boat, which had not left the Kentucky shore when she "laid up." By this arrangement these pasengers were delayed over an hour in their arrival Louisville, which was a serious disappointment several, as well as a great inconvenience, to ay nothing of the vexatious delay and exposure the unpleasant weather that evening. The proprietors and managers of the ferry canot certainly be aware of this tying up arrangenent so early in the afternoon, and that too when assengers were on the ferry dock some time waiting the arrival of that boat. Sales of Tobacco. - By referring to our commer ial summary, it will be seen that the inspec ons and sales of tobacco during the year have nounted to 18,965 hogsheads, with a stock on and in warehouses, not yet inspected or sold, of 205 hogsheads, making a total of 19,170 hogs-ends, against 9,012 hogsheads the previous year. The tobacco year commences on the 1st of Noember, and ends with the 31st of October, and, of ourse, the new year begins to-day. The new crop romises to be not only a full average one, but the quality is expected to be very fine, and we have no doubt that the inspections, at the close of the year, will sum up 20,000 hogsheads. GREAT SALE OF STOCK .- The horse stock of G. Drummond Hunt, Esq., at his public sale, in Fayette, on Thursday, commanded very high prices. His old premium mare Highlander, fourteen years old, brought $602; her sucking colt, by Edwin Forrest, $405; her two year old colt, by Membrino Chief, $305. A yearling stallion colt, by Edwin Forrest, out of Ellen, by Berthune, and Ellen out of the Highlander mare, brought $615. Ellen bus, Indiana, which equals or surpasses the most terrific denoument of a melo-drama. A suitor in a court of justice, in a frenzy of disappointment at an unfavorable verdict, draws a pistol, and kills himself right in the court house, before the judge, bar, jury and spectators. The Columbus Democrat thus describes the affair, and the causes that led to it:

of wednesday last, at the court room, soon after the meeting of court in the afternoon, one of the most terrible tragedies was enacted that ever transpired in a court of justice, or indeed anywhere else.
It appears that a judgment had sometime since been obtained against William Mewherter, an old and well known citizen of this county, and that an execution had been issued upon it against his property, but the sheriff not being able to find anything to satisfy the execution, had returned it expectively.

On Wednesday last, at the court room, soon

The plaintiff—believed that Mewherter had property which ought to be applied to the payment of his judgment, instituted proceedings in the Circuit Court, to charge the body of Mewherter in execution, under the statute of the State, and the execution, under the statute of the State, and the rial came on at this term of the Circuit Court, udge Spencer presiding. A jury was empandelled to try the question whether Mewherter had oncealed his property, contrary to law, which ught to have gone to pay this debt.

It seems that many witnesses were examined on ooth sides, and after a thorough and tedious trial and investigation of the case, at about 3 o'clock, 2, M., the jury returned into court a verdict inding that he had in hands unaccounted for, wer ten thousand dollars. At the time of the inding that he had in hands unaccounted for, over ten thousand dollars. At the time of the announcement of the verdict, the court room was densely crowded. Mewherter took a position to the right of the judge's desk, in frent and between the jury box and the judge, and there, in pursuance to his oft repeated declaration, took his own life, by shooting himself through the breast. Upon the discharge of the pistol he sprang into the air and fell dying upon the floor.

Much excitement was the result of this terrible denouement—unexpected to many, unlooked for nouement—unexpected to many, unlooked for all. Court immediately adjourned over to ursday. Amid the excitement, there seems to e a disposition with a few to censure this one and hat one, but from what we have been able to earn in reference to it, we do not understand that blame, in any way, justly attaches to the liv g, either to the court, jury, or counsel. He leaves, we learn, a wife and two small chilren, to mourn his untimely and terrible end.—

With them we sincerely sympathise. Fearful Casualty-Five Men Hurt-One Killed About two o'clock, yesterday afternoon, the coff of a three story house, owned by R. M. Bryan, a course of crection by the Sextons, on Washington avenue, near the junction of Seventeenth lington avenue, near the junction of Seventeenth street, gave way and fell, pressing the four walls out, and completely taking off the third story.— Five persons at work at the building, were more or less injured. David Messer, a carpenter, who was at work on the outside, had his attention called to the accident by receiving a severe wound on the forehead from the fall of a brick. Before he could get out of the way, he was hart slightly on the left arm and hip. Four slaters, in the employ of P. THE AMERICAN FRAUD IN RUSSIA. - Mr. Thos. Winans, of Baltimore, who built the great railway between Moscow and St. Petersburg, has published a card with reference to the alleged frauds in the construction of the road. Mr. W. says: I assert that the statement itself, and every inthe declaration that any error has been discovered has been so repeatedly surveyed, both before and since it was built, and by different parties, as to preclude the possibility of such a mistake or such a fraud. But, besides this, the route of the road had been employed, or had anything to do with the road—long before the presence of any of the American Company referred to in Russia, and, of course, before they had anything to do with the road. And when it is borne in mind that the rail-road is so located as to follow the line of a turn-nite built half a century or more ago and with We are authorized to announce that the branch in this city, of the Commercial Bank, will be opened this morning for the transaction of business, in the banking house lets.

SEDUCTION AND SUICIDE IN EAST TENNESSEE .-

The Greenville Democrat of the 26th has the following:
On Wednesday morning of last week, a young Mr. Chase, of Washington county, Tenn., having gone to the barn to feed the stock, was startled with the awful and overwhelming sight of his mother, hanging in the barn dead, having committed suicide. The young man called to his father, Jeremiah Chase, who was the husband of this infortunete woman, for relief in assisting him to take her down, and what a trying scene for the husband and son.

We understand she had seen a great deal of trouble for some time past, and that a short time since she had followed a daughter to a premature grave, and also the child of the daughter, under such circumstances as to weigh heavily upon her mind, and she had grieved herself greatly. It is said that an unprincipled man, by taking advantage of the daughter, had destroyed the happiness of the family.

Post Prandial Reading. "Much depends upon when and where you read a book. In the five or six impatient moments before the dinner is quite ready, who would think of taking up the Fairy Queen, for a stop-gap, or volume of Bishop An-

There are certain books for certain hours and laces, and that which would be a delight at one me, would, at another, be as soporific as a good ld fashioned sermon on a summer day, or as irriative as the phillippics hurled against our favortative as the philippics hurled against our favorite "institution" or partizan. We assert a meretruism. A huge tome of Lord Bacon's, which we could pleasantly and improvingly read, inhaling the fresh morning air, we would utterly repudiate at the meridian hour. While, in the long, sultry noons, when Sirius reigns, and the leaves do not rustle, nor the rose petals fall, how deliciously refrigerative is Bayard Taylor's "Northern Travel."

Are not Dickens' tender Christmas stories to be read by the soft light of the lamp, while the home group is gathered around the fireside? There are certain volumes peculiarly appropriate and pleasant for the after-dinner hours. Who cares, then, ant for the after-dinner hours. Who cares, then, for the learned disquisitions, metaphysics, or the mysteries of the occult sciences? Our mood is changeful. The most delightful volume wins only a cursory reading. We would, like the bee, fly from flower to flower, gathering sweets from every honeyed blossom.

It is an October evening; the sun shines radiently, flashing gleams of light on the autumntinted foliage, and the few "last roses of summer." The dinner is over—it was a good one—capital! Are we tired of dreaming, castlebuilding, even the doice far triente of the hour? Then let us leave the drawing-room, and enter the library. Let us close the Venetian blinds, and soften the light. Here is a good old easy chair, (a benediction on all "easy chairs,") let us draw it to the window, and ensconce ourselves in its widespreading arms. Gently, pleasantly, the autumn sind to the light to the hole. to the window, and ensconce ourselves in its widespreading arms. Gently, pleasantly, the autumn wind steals in at the half-closed blind, cooling our cheeks, still flushed by the Lachryma Christi.

How shall we begin our afternoon reading? Here is a well-worn volume. We can reach it, as we indelently recline—"Elia's Essays." Are we still impressed with the merits of some favorite dish which graced the table. Let us turn to the eloquent dissertation on "Roast Pig," and thank Heaven for such a champion of a "creature comfort."

Has the plum pudding left a heaviness we fain would laugh away? Then let us read that facetious, sparkling essay on "Imperfect Sympathies"—and we may add the chapter on "My Relations." In the latter, what beautifully drawn pictures, with "those fine Shandian lights and shades," the true artist alone can give. Are we in a half-dreaming state, thinking more of the ideal than the real world? Then how pleasantly will chime in with our mood, that exquisitely beautiful dream, "The Child Angel." Does a pleasant sadness diffuse itself over our spirits? Then how tenderly we dwell on the sufferings of the poor "Christ's Hospital" boy.

dwell on the sufferings of the poor "Christ's Hospital" boy.

We have given an hour to Lamb, and the last essay has left a half melancholy we would dispel. Shall we take up "Don Quixote," and laugh for the thousandth time over the perils of the chivalric knight and his faithful Esquire? Here is a volume better suited to the hour. We will surreptitiously devour its contents, never heeding the moments that pass so swiftly, as we read the wondrous travels of "Gullirer." Shall we not plead guilty to a decided penchant for this classic work?

sea song, wailing as the wave-sighs! Is it not touchingly beautiful? Ah! how sadly comes to our hearts the poetic aphorism—

"The tender grace of a day that is dead, Will never come back to me." Here is the sweet lullaby the mother sings to her half-sleeping child:

"Sweet and low, sweet and low,
Wind of the western sea;
Low, low, breathe and blow,
Wind of the western sea! O'er the rolling waters go,
Come from the dying moon, and blow,
Blow him again to me!
While my little one, while my pretty one sleeps." Ah! let us breathe it softly, it is hallowed now. Where is the fair little one we pressed to our bosom and soothed with the simple air? There is no need to chant the soft song by the tiny grave, where the daisies grow very quietly. The little sleeper is resting there. How tenderly, yet sorrowfully, we go back to the past, with its treasured memories. We are thinking now of the last time we sang the sweet song, striving to soothe the little sufferer; how we kissed the flushed cheek, and put back the waving hair from the fevered brow; how we prayed Heaven it might not be; and how the song grew into a wild wailing, a mourning requiem, as the quiek short breathing ceased, and the dark eyes peacefully closed, and the little child slept his last sleep.

Ah! it is a little song to call up this beautiful picture, draped in mourning. Now we will close the book. The tears linger blindingly, and we cannot read. The deep solemn moonlight has come on; the autumn wind breathes softly and sadly, and the angel chorister sings sobgs of peace, and love, and trust to our yearning hearts.

THE CASE OF WHITE CHARGED WITH MURDER.—A

The counsel for the defense then made a motion for the postponement of the trial, on account of the absence of witness Sam. McHugh, an motion for the postponement of the trial, on account of the absence of witness Sam. McHugh, an important witness. Judge Muir required an affidavit, which stated that the defense would prove by said witness that Harman was the aggressor in the affair which resulted in his death. The materiality of the testimony was undoubted and the judge ordered the jury discharged. Subsequently the counsel for the defense made a motion that the accused be admitted to bail, as his case (in the opinion of the defense) could not possibly be made more than manslaughter. Mr. Craig, for the Commonwealth, said he did not resist the motion, and the court fixed the bail at $2,000. It has not yet been given.

The politicians of Illinois are in the agonies of their "last words" to the voters, before the conclusion of the long, stormy, exciting and important canvass of that State, which has been regarded with solicitude by all intelligent men in the nation, and is within a few days of its close. The sensation throughout the State is excessive, for the result is from every point of view doubtful, and personal feelings to a remarkable degree, enter into the contest. Senator Douglas has made such exertions for his re-election to the Senate as but few men have the capacity to make. His exut few men have the capacity to make. His exout lew men have the capacity to make. His excellent constitution, powerful brain and intense vitality, have been taxed to the utmost, and he has lavished money like a profligate prince. It is asserted, and the authority is tolorably good, that he borrowed one hundred thousand dollars in New York upon real estate mortgages, which sum he proposed to invest in his re-election to the Senate. It is alleged that he has hired phonographic reporters to accompany him up and down the State, and write down the words of his speeches, and give accounts of his reception at various. the State, and write down the words of his speeches, and give accounts of his reception at various points; and that he has paid the composition bills of newspapers, to give his words and his ovations the permanency and publicity of print; and that he has employed musicians, chartered trains, and attached to his suite a six-pounder to thunder of his presence wherever he might appear; and that he has been busily engaged in importing votes into the doubtful counties. He has certainly spoken many times, more than a hundred times, we presume, with a very considerable degree of force and effect; and has drawn vast crowds and caused a marked popular excitement in nearly every counenorts. He has not been quite aure of the ground upon which he has stood, and a variety of causes have combined to circumscribe and embarrass the scope and aim of his utterances. While on the test question between the parties of the country, he had been in Congress, with the Republicans, fighting in front of the battle, positively the recognised leader in the assaults upon the administration, he found himself, in building attention of the found himself, in upon the administration, he found himself, in his Illinois struggle, face to face in deadly hostility with the Republicans, and constrained to stand by and make the most of his Democracy while the head of the Democratic party, the President, was bitterly opposed to him, and bringing all the power of his almost boundless patronage and property against him opened a galling fire in all the power of his almost boundless patronage to operate against him, opened a galling fire in the rear. Mr. Douglas hoped for Republican votes, to make up for those of which the warfare of the President had deprived him, and was therefore cautious how he assailed the Republicans; and, dependent upon Democratic support, he felt it unsafe to make a clean breast of the feelings of wrath and vengeance against the official head of the Democratic party, which rankled in his heart. Por these reasons, his labors in Illinois since the close of the last session of Congress, constant, earnest, and desperate as they have been, have not added to his fame as a crushing debater, and persuasive stump speaker. He found it necessary persuasive stump speaker. He found it necessary to make his fight upon a narrow platform—one from which he could appeal to Democrats, Repub-licans, Americans, and Old Line Whigs for aid

And now we have read these two love tragedies, and musing on the usual fatality of those consecrated to the tender passion, we recall the apposite little poem which came this summer with the early flowers: "The course of true love never did run smooth." It is a tiny volume, brim full of beauty and fragrance, and sadness.

The Orient—"lotus fragrance blows outward from that name, and steeps us in blissful dreams." Entranced we wander through the dusky palm-groves, listening to the sweet, sad, voluptuous song of the trees, that "wave in the low moonlight wind." Through the nargileh clouds, we see the witching Ghazeeyah, esveloped in the rosy, misty radiance of oriental dress, and palpitating in the mazes of the passionate dance. With the Howadji, we offer homage to the mystic Memon, who sits gand and regal, "throwed upon ruined Thebes;" and we gaze upon the Sphinx, that "breaths mysteries more magical, and rarer romances of the mountains of the moon and the Nile sources, than ever Arabian imagination dreamed."
What charmed memories for a lifetime this hour's reading has given us! What sparkling images of the Nile—the golden sunset, the tropical trance!" And yet it is dangerous to linger longer in such seductive scenes.
Here is a volume of Tennyson. Let us read "Locksley Hall." There is no oriental sweetness, subtle and intoxicating, in this. But it is a noble poem, earnest and soulful, and we feel ourselves better and truer for what we have read. And now we we'll turn to some of the exquisite little songs, treasured in every heart. There is something very touching in the account which has been given to the world, of the departure of the stricken King of Prussia from his palace of Potsdam, after resigning the powers of government into the hands of his brother, the Prince of Prussia. We are told by an eye-witness that an immensa growd assembled at the reas, that an immense crowd assembled at the railway station, in Berlin, and greeted the retiring monarch with enthusiastic shouts, and earnest wishes for his return in good health; that all along the line of railway, as the train passed, similar crowds saluted the royal party with shouts of "Long live the King," and that at Anhault, the expression of sympathy for the suffering monarch dry eye at the station. It is very certain that our city does not owe bonds. Her bonds are as good as those of Uncle Sam himself. They have never been questioned by any one who has taken the pains to inform himself as to their value. The interest upon them is punctually paid at the expiration of every six months, and the principal will be paid at maturi' ty, just as sure as the time of their falling due shall hereafter arrive.

The entire indebtedness of Louisville, including nearly two millions of contingent and conditional liabilities which may never come upon her, is less than $3,500,000. As an offset against this, she holds more than $4,000,000 worth of property in her own name, while the assessed value of the property of her citizens, every dollar of which is bound forsethe liabilities, amounts to $35,000,000. Any paper upon which the corporate name of Louisville appears, is, therefore, good for its face beyond all question.

Why, then, are her bonds thus sacrificed in the stock market? The reason is plain to any one who looks at the matter properly. The following reasons will suffice for an explanation, though others might be very readily given:

1. We have no Auditor's report showing the condition of our city finances. The report was due the 11th of March last, and we have it not up to this time. Many persons, therefore, fear that something is wrong, and that a good financial showing cannot be made.

2. In the absence of an Auditor's report, the friends of the Memphis Branch are pressing the while the report of the Water Company shows that more debt will have to be created to complete that enterprise. Sandidge, of Pineville. Eustis is a Know Nothing, and Tay-

THE AMERICAN HORSES IN ENGLAND .- With no inconsiderable lack of success, in the first blush of his sporting enterprise in England, Ten Broeck seems now in a fair way to win back his laurels. The first day of the Newmarket races, "Babylon," people to create another city debt of $300,000 by Belshazzar, (American,) won a handicap sweep stakes, in a canter; and on the same day, "Woodburn," (American,) two years old, run a tremendous race with the Duke of Bedford's "Harry, winning by a short head. The last was a match ing of buying and laying out lands for a public for $1,000-and Harry was the favorite at three to park. Under such circumstances those who buy one. On the same day, Ten Broeck received for securities will not be likely to invest in Louis. feit from Sir J. Hauley, in the match for $2,500. ville city bonds at fair prices. They want an ex. half forfeit, between Prioress and Beadsman. In hibit from the Auditor, and an idea of how much another match race, subsequently, Ten Broeck's "Orianda" beat the Duke of Bedford's "Vigil," bonds Louisville has already thrown upon the with ease, and Ten Broeck's "Mimosa" won 50 forfeit, in the match of "Babylon" against

JUDGE CATRON AND JUSTICE MONROE, PRESIDING.

Frankfort, Wednesday, Oct. 27.

United States vs. T. Q. Carter; indictment for forgery, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6.

These several indictments were returned by the Grand Jury, at the present term, for distinct offenses, charged to have been committed by the detendant, in forging letters purporting to come from postmasters, addressed to the Third Assistant Postmaster General, and asking for the transmission to them of postage stamps and stamped envelopes, post bills, and other things appertaining to the business of a postoffice. The indictments alleged that the letters were falsely and fradulently forged, uttered, and published by the radulently forged, uttered, and published by lefendant, knowing them to be false, forged, a ounterfeit, with the intent and for the purpose defrauding the United States out of a large quantity of postage stamps, stamped envelopes, etc., of the value of $\frac{8}{2}$—. The indictments were based upon the act of Congress of 1823; and upon the motions to quash the indictments, and upon the demurrers, the question arose whether this was such an offense as was within the act of Congress. The Court—both judges concurring—held that it was not. It was decided that the forged requisition for stamps and stamped envelopes, although a fraud upon the government, yet was not provided against in the act, which makes it a felony for any person to forge any writing, certificate, claim, or demand upon the United States, or to utter and publish the same as true, knowing it to be false and forged, with the intent and for the purpose of defrauding the United States out of any sum or sums of money. Stamps, and stamped envelopes not being money, a demand or claim for such could not be construed into a demand for moneys;

The Grand Jury ordered, having been called,

Sole Agents for Kentucky and Indiana. NUNNS & CLARK'S Improved New Scale Pianos are so well and favorably known in this market, and throughout the whole country, to be SUPERIOR in touch, tone, and durability, and they speak so well for themselves, that they need no word of commendation from any one.

HAINES BROTHERS' PIANOS

are new Pianos in this market, but they are well known in many sections of the country as an A No. I instrument. Competent judges who have tried them pronounce them fully equal, if not superior, to the Steinway & Son's Pianos. They are a beautiful, highly finished instrument, and we can sell them at three-fourths the price of a Chickering Piano, as we do not have to pay anything for their name or reputation. We still keep a full supply of the New and Improved Scale of Chickering & Son's Grand, Parlor Grand, and Square Pianos, and as we are Cash Dealers in them, we can sell them unusually low for cash. We have also several other makes of Pianos, all of which we warrant to give perfect satisfaction. We respectfully invite strangers visiting the city during the Fair, and all others in want of Pianos, to call and examine our complete stock, for we are selling exceedingly low for cash. TO THE AFFLICTED LADIES! MRS. JULIA M. MILLIGAN'S Patent Improved Abdominal Supporter.

[The object of this invention is to provide for a prolapsed condition of the abdomen, a heaithful and properly distributed support to all internal organs, capable of nice and ready adaptation to the changing condition of the patient, and can be made to form an article of wearing apparel capable of being washed as any other customary garment. Afflicted ladies will find this Supporter far superior to all others made of steel, horn, leather, or India-rubber, which are so unpleasant to the person. My Supporters are manufactured of any woven fabric, such as Muslin, India Twill, Linen or Silk, &c. This Supporter has been in use for the last two years, with the greatest success, by some of the first ladies of New Albany, Louisville and Cincinnati, and a number of ladies throughout the country. References of ladies that have used them can be seen by calling at the respectfully invited to call and examine my Supporters.

BOERHAVE'S THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR

DYSPEPSIA. DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS.

LIVER COMPLAINT, Weakness of any kind, FEVER AND AGUE,

And all the various affections consequent upon a diseased STOMACH OR LIVER,

STOMACH OR LIVER.

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic, and Sleuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in other effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on scrictly scientific principles after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Berchave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

NOTICE—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak and low spirited, it will prove a greatful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.

The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has in-duced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given Borhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince how infinitely supe-rior it is to all these imitations. SOLE PROPRIETORS,

THE RIVER, contrary to the hopes and anticip tions of all the boatmen, is again falling, and falling at all points, if the dispatches are to be relied much for three days, though falling slowly last evening, with scant four feet water in the canal. The weather, which had been cloudy, lowering The weather, which had been cloudy, lowering and rainy for about a week, partially cleared off resterday morning, and the sun shone out bright ly. It had clouded up again in the evening, but at night was clear again. Our dispatches from Pittsburgh, Saturday, at on reported the river falling, with only two feet eight inches water in the channel. This dispatch certainly ought to be reliable and correct, yet the Cincinnati papers, of Saturday, report four feet water at Pittsburgh the evening previous on the faith of private dispatches, as will be seen by the following from the Commercial:

At Pittsburgh, last night, there were four feet in the chaunel, and raining, with prospects of a heavy rise. The dispatch on Change, reporting 85 inches, was erroneous, as Captains Lightner and Barr received dispatches, during the evening, endorsing our statement. The above dispatch from Pittsburgh must cer-taioly be a roorback, as it gave the stage of the river on Friday evening, while the regular press dispatch was up to noon on Saturday, which is over 12 hours late. The reporter at Pittsburgh ought to have sent a report of the water Satur-day evening, as it is just now of the greatest im-partance to heatmen.

The undersigned, formerly of the "Hotel de Raine," begs leave to inform his friends and the above house, situated at the southeast corner of Fifth and Jefferson streets, and is now ready to refresh and invigorate the weary traveler with good, cool, and wholesome beverages, of the best kind.

The Brandy, Old Bourbon, Holland Gin, Port, Madeira, Sherry, Champagne, Catawaba and Claret Wines, slaothe Cigars and Tobacco with which my bar is adorned, have been purchased, regardless of high prices, from old correspondents, and are therefore justly deserving the high enconiums which "connoiseeurs" have been pleased to bestow upon my plain and combingation-drinks, each and all of them prepared and handed out in "our own immittable style." In addition to the attractions of the bar, I have also furnished in the second-story of the edifice a large and arry

I have also the pleasure of amouncing that I have succeeded in securing the valuable assistance of Wm. H. Wise, Esq., who will be pleased to wait on his numerous friends and new customers. This acquisition, together with the gentleman who attends the Billiard Saloon, and my own untiring attention to the wants of customers, presents to the public about "as strong an accommodation team" as there is running in the city.
